

The Beehive

November, 2019 A.D.; 6019 A.L

Nashua, New Hampshire

Brethren,

As I write this message, we have our upcoming degree put on by our Brothers from Jenks Lodge in Rhode Island, and a party that a committee of Brothers has been working very hard to plan.

I have led a company and teams of people. As Masons, we learn that it is important to put people to work and give them proper instruction. Our Masonic ritual uses the example of the beehive as an emblem of industry and cooperative labor.

Arguments and power struggles cause discontent and will quickly weaken and destroy any organization.

Listening is a powerful leadership and communication skill. As your Master I have tried to listen to all of the members and other people to make the Lodge enjoyable for all.

Sincerely and Fraternally,

Mike Henry

Jenks Lodge No 24 Degree and Halloween Party

Thank you all to those who attended both the Master Mason Degree and Party after. We would like to especially thank those who helped organize the event and fundraising efforts. It's fantastic to see a lodge come together like this.

Masonic Family Leadership Conference

On Saturday, January 25th the Grand Lodge of New Hampshire will be hosting a Masonic Family Leadership Conference in Concord.

The goal of this event is to inspire and drive our members to become stronger leaders and better communicators both within our organizations and in our communities. Attendees will develop key communication skills from basic techniques to utilize in more complex means. Speakers from inside and outside our organizations will help demonstrate how to become an effective communicator, regardless of age, and a dynamic leader.

This will be a fantastic event, and all potential masters of the lodge are highly encouraged to attend.

Masonic Trivia of the Month:

This Roman historian is quite possibly the most quoted man in our ritual.
