

From the East

Happy Holidays Brethren!

As we get together with family and friends, let us cherish the relationships we've built over the years.

I often contemplate what the holidays truly mean to me. What is it I look forward to during these special times of the year?

As a child, it was opening gifts, playing with toys (especially when I got my Nintendo!), and the excitement of not knowing what Christmas morning was going to bring.

As a young adult, it turned to going out with friends, socializing, and being seen.

But now, as an adult with nieces and nephews, I look forward to seeing that holiday magic on their faces.

Which brings me back to the relationships. People come in and out of our lives, and the relationships we have with them change. Someone who might have been an incredibly close friend may now seem like an acquaintance. A friend who moved far away may still be the most important person in your life. You may have made some new friends in the last year who have turned into a trusted confidante.

I know that I am truly blessed to have some great people in my life. I'm fortunate that my parents are still with me, and that our relationship is stronger now than it's ever been. I'm fortunate that I have my wife, who is my rock, my siblings, their children, and my wife's family.

I am also very fortunate to have built even stronger relationships with Brothers both within Ancient York and throughout the state. This has allowed me to open up more to Brothers in our Lodge, going to them in times of stress, sharing pains and joys.

I am truly grateful and blessed to have such strong bonds with Brothers with whom I may have never had the opportunity to meet without Masonry.

So cherish your relationships, and don't be afraid to start or renew others. It's worth it.

Fraternally Yours,
Peter N. LaFauci
Worshipful Master
